Sarah E. Barr is an associate in the Trial Group at Davis Graham & Stubbs LLP, where her practice focuses on complex commercial litigation. She was previously an associate with Morrison & Foerster LLP's Denver office. There, she represented clients in a broad range of matters spanning complex commercial litigation, internal investigations, white collar defense, contract disputes, and energy regulatory and compliance law. She has experience in all aspects of litigation, including drafting motions, briefs, and discovery in the federal appellate and district courts, as well as in regulatory proceedings.

Ms. Barr received her J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center, where she was the Current Developments Editor for the Georgetown Journal of Legal Ethics. During law school, she was a judicial intern for the Honorable Raymond Gruender of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit and then for the Honorable Randolph Moss of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. In addition, she was a student criminal defense attorney with the Georgetown Criminal Justice Clinic. After graduating from law school, she was a law clerk for the Honorable R. Brooke Jackson of the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado. Ms. Barr also holds a B.A. in Journalism from the University of Missouri.

Outside her practice, Ms. Barr is actively involved in the community. She regularly volunteers with Food for Thought and the Special Olympics.
